

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Are you a team player?

Learning Outcome

Relate information about common solutions to problems in spoken or written documents.

Ask your partner:

- What does it mean to be a good team player?
- Do you prefer to work individually or as part of a team? Why?
- What qualities do you have to have to work well independently?

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use words like pear and pair.
- I can use proper intonation in short questions and statements.
- I can stress I and you.

Let's Explore!

Sally is told that she's not a team player.

* A "team player" is someone who puts aside his personal goals and works well with others.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Hello?
- Sally: Hi Vanessa! How are you?
- Vanessa: I'm good. But what about you? How did the one-on-one with your boss go? You met with her, didn't you?
- Sally: Yes, and I thought that it went well but apparently she didn't. She told another woman at work that I'm being difficult and I'm not a team player.
- Vanessa: You're not a team player? You're the best writer on their team there! And you always help everyone else, don't you? If I were you, I'd write to someone in human resources about her, right away! You're not the problem here, she is!
- Sally: I'm really confused by her behavior. I've tried to be helpful to her from the start. Remember when she had worn jeans to work a couple times and I had to warn her that that was against the dress code? And that time when she asked me to sell her cell phone?
- Vanessa: And then there was that time when she was hungover and you had to present the birthday present to the president of the company! She remembers these things, doesn't she?
- Sally: She's always so stressed. Maybe it slipped her mind.
- Vanessa: That's no excuse! You're not going to excuse her, are you? She sounds like a real piece of work!
- Sally: By the way, she asked me to buy her a pair of pears for her lunch.
- Vanessa: You really need to get away, don't you? I'll take you to a tropical isle for a holiday.

Let's Practice!

Time to practice placing emphasis on certain words to express importance.

Instructions: Complete the sentences below by choosing from the words in the word bank.

Word Bank

- Slipped her
- Mind
- Piece of work
- Hungover
- One on one
- Apparently

- 1) How did the _____ with your boss go?
- 2) And then there was that time when she was _____ .
- 3) Yes, and I thought it went well but _____ she didn't.
- 4) She sounds like a real _____ !
- 5) Maybe it _____ .

Let's Practice!

Let's say words that sound the same but are spelled differently.

Instructions: Read the words aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- 1) their - there
- 2) right - write
- 3) sell - cell
- 4) pair - pear
- 5) I'll - isle
- 6) You're the best writer on their team there!
- 7) I'd write to someone in human resources about her, right away!
- 8) And that time when she asked me to sell her cell phone?
- 9) By the way, she asked me to buy her a pair of pears for her lunch.
- 10) I'll take you to a tropical isle for a holiday.

Extension Activity

Practice with homonyms.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, write down as many homonyms as you can think of.
- On your own, write a story or dialogue and try to include as many homonym pairs from your list as you can.
- When you are finished, share your writing with your partner. Who used the most homonyms correctly?
- Read your story or dialogue aloud to your group.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I say and use words like pear and pair.

☐ ☐

I use proper intonation in short questions and statements.

☐ ☐

I stress I and you.

☐ ☐

I list homonyms and use them in a dialogue or story.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- one-on-one (noun): when someone works with only one other person
e.g. How did the one-on-one with your boss go?
- to warn (verb): to tell (someone) about possible danger or trouble
e.g. I had to warn her that that was against the dress code.
- apparently (adverb): something that appears to be true based on what is known e.g. I thought it went well but apparently she didn't.
- to slip someone's mind (expression): when someone forgets a piece of information e.g. She's always so stressed. Maybe it slipped her mind.
- hangover (adjective): a sick feeling or condition that comes after drinking too much alcohol
e.g. Do you remember the time when she was hungover at work?
- piece of work (expression): a person who is a negative influence
e.g. She sounds like a real piece of work!

Learning Points

Using Homonyms and Homophones

Homonyms are made up of homophones and homographs.

A homophone is a word that has the same sound as another word but has a different meaning and may have a different spelling.

For example:

right and write

right (noun) and right (adjective)

A homograph is a word that has the same spelling as another word but has a different sound and a different meaning.

For example:

present (noun) and present (verb)

wind (noun) and wind (verb)

Examples:

- their/there
- right/write
- worn/warn
- sell/cell
- pear/pair
- I'll/isle
- present/present
- excuse (s)/excuse (z)

Learning Points

Stressing You and I

You stress you and I to add meaning and emphasis to a statement.

When you stress a word, you make it longer, louder and a little higher tone. You can put stress on a word to emphasize it and make your meaning clearer.

You stress you or I when you want to emphasize something about a person that is not expected.

For example:

I'm good. But how about you?

When you put stress on you, you shift the emphasis to the other person.

Read these sentences with stress on the bolded words:

Examples:

- I thought it went well but apparently she didn't.
- You're the best writer on their team there!
- You're not the problem there, she is!
- If I were you, I'd write to someone in human resources.
- And then there was that time when she was hungover and you had to present the birthday present.

